gratitude is given as to repay in some way the debt of gratitude which we owe to those who have thus, and their adoption buckle them to the soul with hoops of steel." And to-day we are doing it. We cannot forget our obligations. We cannot that we stand or fall with England. We cannot forget that we are part of the British Empire, and that the independence is threatened. It is our duty and we have Mr. Harcourt's words to guide us. Watson, "You can assure Australia shall not forget."

We have had only a lingering doubt as to whether the Australians are now as plainly enough now that it is. Just as the fighting round Ypres moved to Canada that it is her war, the many names figuring in the list, each one of which has its own message to a separate family or to a group of friends, and of its pride—some that are known to us all, the (Colonel) Henry Normand Macintosh's death was reported a few days ago, belonged to a family long known and honored in our midst, and mentioned in our daily paper. Another, a young man, who died while leading a Battalion of the 1st (New South) Infantry Brigade into action, was a member of an Australian Parliament, a volunteer for active service, and he might have been taken to a high place in the public life of the country, but he is the better part. To lay down his life for one's country is the highest proof of power of public service. Nor can we forget that the call of duty has brought here the halls of our Parliament. New South Wales has sent four of her public life. Colonel Ryrie, the Federal Member for North Sydney, is in charge of the 2nd Light Horse Brigade of the 1st Cavalry Division. Another member of the Services is Lieutenant-Colonel of New Zealand; and, as in the Colonel MacLaurin, we are re- of the prominent part that they played before them in the service of their country. One of the men who has gone to the front is Lt. Larkin, State member for Wil- who, when war broke out, out a private. Is it too much to ask

THE NEEDS OF OUR MEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR.—The executive committee of the Red Cross Society, New South Wales Division, wish to draw the attention of the public to the following statement made by Senator Pearce in the Senate on 11th March in reference to cables sent for aid to the wounded:—

My attention has been drawn to unnumbered appeals to the public and private persons in the name of the commanding officers of the Australian Imperial Force now serving abroad. These appeals are contrary to orders. The Government is providing everything necessary for soldiers in the field, and where there are deficiencies it is the duty of the officers to bring these before the Government. Hospital comforts are received from the Government, and medical and surgical supplies are supplied by the War Medical Department. People before acting in these appeals should communicate with the Department of Defence.

It is the New South Wales Division last week and now to the Australian hospitals, and is now sending a special appeal for the hard-pressed hospitals. These funds are administered by the Director-General of the Australian Hospitals, who collects the money in the direction most required, and renders a full report at all the expenditure to the Government. It is the duty of the public to support her Excellency by Helen Maud Ferguson.

I am, etc.

GLADYS OWEN, Hon. Secretary,
New South Wales Division, Red Cross Society,

BRITAIN.

MUNITIONS AND MEN
NEEDED.

WESTERN FRONT.

FRENCH SUCCESS.

It is stated that the British attacks against La Bassée and towards Lille failed for want of unlimited munitions.

To break the German defences more shells, more heavy howitzers, and more men are needed.

Fighting continues north of Arras, where the French success was greater in proportion to the duration of the advance than any achieved by either side under conditions of siege warfare.

The French have also completed the capture of Bois-le-Prete, E.N.E. of Saint Mihiel.

The Austro-Germans are now within 17 miles of Przemyśl, but the Russians have successfully begun a counter offensive on the Bukovina frontier.

The British are now practically in complete possession of German Southwest Africa, though the Germans refuse to abandon resistance.

THE BRITISH.

WHY THEY FAILED.

AN URGENT NEED.

MUNITIONS AND MEN.

LONDON, May 14. The "Times" thinks it unlikely that the lack of an unlimited supply of high explosives was a fatal bar to the British success, hence the disappointing results.

In the attacks at Fromelles and Richbourg on Sunday, the French fired 276 rounds of high explosive per gun in a single day, and levelled the defences to the ground.

The British found the enemy much more strongly posted than they expected, and when they had insufficient explosives, and when the fighting started the trenches they found the German position unimpaired, with many entanglements intact, and many mines.

As the British were unable to maintain themselves in the trenches, the British reserves were not thrown in, conditions for a successful attack not being present.

The Germans opposite the British held almost all the heights. They have brought up hundreds of machine guns to the points which can be attacked, supported by formidable artillery.

If we can break the hard outer crust of the German defences, our commanders believe they can scatter the German armies. For this they need more shells and heavy howitzers, and more men.

EAST OF YPRES.

GERMANS DESTROY TRENCHES.

St. John French reports that fighting east of Ypres continues. The Germans violently to the line north of the Messines, destroying some trenches, and in the process, temporary readjustment of the line, which has been completely readjusted.

SOUTH-WEST AFRICA.

BOTH'S SUCCESS.

GERMANS PERSIST IN STRUGGLE.

CAIRO, May 13.

It is officially announced that General Botha has visited the Union Jack at Windhoek, being unopposed.

General Botha, from Oudshoorn, by telephone, arranged with the Burgomaster of Windhoek to hand over the place unopposed.

In a proclamation he regrets the Germans' decision to continue a struggle, the end of which is plain, and which will end in the complete destruction of the British, but the latter can confidently rely on British protection and remain in their homes and carry on business.

KNIGHTS OF THE GARTER.

REVISED ROLL.

LONDON, May 14. The German Emperor, the King of France, the King of Italy, the King of the Netherlands, the Grand Duke of Luxembourg, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and the Duke of Cumberland, have been struck off the roll of knights of the Garter.

It is expected the Knight-Arms, upon receipt of the Royal Warrant, will proceed to Windsor and order the banners to be taken down.

Only three degradations took place up to 17th, including that of the Duke of Monmouth, whose spurs were tucked off and his sword broken above his head. The heralds then tore down his banner and helmet, and spurned them with their feet from Saint George's Chapel.

ENEMY'S LOSSES.

THE FIGHTING CONTINUES.

PARIS, May 13.

A communique yesterday stated: An obstinate struggle is in progress southward of Notre Dame de Lorette. Violent counter-attacks through the night were repulsed. The enemy suffered extremely heavy losses.

We carried by an assault the entire village of Carency and a wood to the north, namely, Hill 125. The German troops holding the village and wood comprised two infantry battalions, a battalion of Bavarian Chasseurs, and six companies of Pioneers, each of 300.

These had transformed the locality into a formidable redoubt, and offered a desperate resistance. Hundreds were bayoneted, and 1050 made prisoners, including 30 officers, a colonel, and a major of the Chasseurs.

We won hundreds of metres of ground to the northward of Neuville, and seized the road leading to Giverny.

Besides the southern end we carried the centre of Neuville. The Germans were thrown back on the northern end, which we outflanked.

The latest communique states: In the wood on Hill 125 we took the corpses of three German companies which our artillery had annihilated.

From Carency we advanced to Ablain Saint Nazaire. We hold all except the eastern outskirts, where the struggle continues.

We took prisoner several hundreds and captured seventeen guns at Neuville Saint Vaast.

We have captured the last line of German trenches, completing the capture of Bois le Pretre, near Pont-a-Mousson, at the southern end of the base of the St. Mihiel salient.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS.

AMSTERDAM, May 14.

A Berlin communique states: We evacuated Carency and the western part of Ablain, losing a number of brave men, and material.

GALICIA.

ENEMY'S ADVANCE.

RUSSIAN COUNTER-STROKE.

PETROPOLE, May 14.

The Germans are seventeen miles from Przemyśl, outnumbering the Russians by three to one. The Russians, however, hold the Zask Pass and the Jaworin Range.

They are developing a counter-stroke in Bukovina, where Russian cavalry on Monday performed a unique feat. The 19th Cossack cut a passage through the enemy's entanglements and drove the Austrians from three rows of trenches, allowing the Russian cavalry to dash up the valley of the river on to the Austrians' rear, cutting down many, and capturing over 8000.

BUKOVINA.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS.

A communique states: The intensity of the fighting in Western Galicia was decreasing on Tuesday and Wednesday. Our offensive on the right bank of the Danube is meeting with continued success.

German officers who are prisoners state that the German Emperor visited the Danube front, and that he had been in contact with Marshal von Hindenburg and the Austrian Archduke.

Despite the presence of Austrian officers, the Emperor addressed the German soldiers, declaring that the Germans were fighting three powerful enemies, Austria and single-minded Turkey, and that they must not be lulled by the prospect of a quick victory.

The British found the enemy much more strongly posted than they expected, and when they had insufficient explosives, and when the fighting started the trenches they found the German position unimpaired, with many entanglements intact, and many mines.

As the British were unable to maintain themselves in the trenches, the British reserves were not thrown in, conditions for a successful attack not being present.

GERMAN ESTIMATES.

SPOILS OF VICTORY.

AMSTERDAM, May 14.

A Berlin communique states: Now that the armies of General von Mackensen are approaching the front of Gorlice and Tarnobrzeg, the battles of Gorlice and Tarnobrzeg can be estimated.

We captured 13,500 Russians, sixty-nine guns, and 255 machine guns, apart from 40,000 prisoners taken in the Carpathians and north of the Vistula.

ITALY'S PART.

PEACE OR WAR?

NATIONAL CRISIS.

ROME, May 14.

Signor Salandra (Premier), Baron Syrota (Foreign Minister), and the Government are resolved on war, believing this to be the only solution to preserve Italian honour.

Signor Giolitti's supporters, who form a Parliamentary majority, hitherto have supported the Government.

Italian feeling during the last three months has undergone a remarkable change. The old enmity for Austria has been superseded by an anti-German sentiment and growing anger at German methods.

A strong section of the Giolitti party is attempting for peace at the price Austria is prepared to offer, but it is doubtful whether Signor Giolitti is prepared to wreck the Cabinet and come into power on an anti-war policy.

It was previously reported that the Cabinet has resigned, as Ministers considered they did not possess the authority to prevent attacks on German ships. Every window of the German college was smashed. The interventionists are neutral.

Interventionist demonstrations have taken place at Rome. The police were powerless to prevent attacks on German shops. Every window of the German college was smashed. The interventionists are neutral.

Those in favour of war include democrats, radical reformers, republicans, nationalists, and supporters of the Cabinet. The neutralists include Roman Catholics, Conservatives, and supporters of Signor Giolitti. The latter's open declaration that war should be avoided and Italy "not obtain adequate concessions from Austria has brought the internal conflict to a head.

A large majority of the Italian people condemn Signor Giolitti's mercantile attitude, and believe war to be necessary, whatever territorial satisfaction is given. They believe Italy must do her share in re-establishing law, justice, and humanity, and crushing German militarism, which is a peril to civilisation.

The Cabinet is in favour of leaving the final decision to Parliament, which meets on May 20. The King is desirous that Parliament's decision should be unanimous.

Troops are guarding Signor Giolitti's house.

GERMANY'S WORD.

NOT NOW ACCEPTABLE.

IT IS STATED THAT THE KING GAVE AN audience to the German Ambassador, Prince von Bulow, and asked what guarantee Italy had that the concessions would be permanent.

Von Bulow replied: "The word of Germany," and the King answered, "It is too late in the day for such a guarantee to be acceptable."

The Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, in the House of Commons to-day, stated that the Government proposed that all adult alien enemy males, for their own and Britain's safety, would be segregated and interned.

All those over military age would be segregated, and women and children, in suitable cases, would be repatriated. Some might remain, and an Advisory Board to deal with exceptions would be established.

Mr. Asquith explained that the Advisory Committee was empowered in the case of naturalised aliens to intern in case of necessity or danger.

LOOTING DEPLORED.

INNOCENT VICTIMS.

Mr. Asquith deplored the looting and plundering, stating that such outbreaks of lawlessness do little harm to the enemy, but often injured innocent victims.

Further rioting occurred to-day in the East End.

SOUTH AFRICA.

MOBS DO GREAT DAMAGE.

JOHANNESBURG, May 13. Fifty-one buildings were wholly or partially wrecked, and huge bonfires made of the wreckage.

Pictures of the German Emperor and German Kaiser were burnt.

A noteworthy feature was the absence of looting.

A thousand rolls of cotton and woolen stuffs were removed from a warehouse and a bonfire made of them.

The damage at Johannesburg represents at least £750,000. It is argued that British insurance companies will suffer most.

INCENDIARISM.

CAPETOWN, May 14.

Enormous crowds, including many women, also coloured people, after singing the National Anthem with bared heads, wrecked German establishments, and commenced a wholesale firing of the buildings. The fire brigade was unable to cope with the outbreaks, and the military were called out. There was an entire absence of looting.

MINOR SUCCESSES.

The British battleship Goliath has been sunk in the Dardanelles, with the loss of 500 lives.

SUNK BY TURKS.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

LONDON, May 13.

The British armoured ship Goliath was torpedoed in the Dardanelles.

Five hundred men perished. Twenty officers and 100 men were rescued.

The First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Winston Churchill, in the House of Commons to-day, stated that the Goliath was torpedoed by destroyers last night, when she was protecting the French fleet inside the Straits.

The Goliath was a pre-Dreadnought battleship of the Canopus class, and was a sister ship to the Ocean (recently lost in the Dardanelles), the Vengeance, Glory, Albion, and Canopus. All these vessels were completed between 1900 and 1902. They displaced 12,500 tons, were 260 feet long, and had engines of 12,500 h.p., which gave a speed of nearly 18 knots. The armament comprised four 12-inch, two 8-inch, and ten 3-inch guns, all of oblique pattern. There were four torpedo tubes. A belt only six inches thick protected the water-line, but there is 12-inch armour on the gun turrets. The complement numbered about 750 officers and men. She cost about £250,000 each. They were ships with very light draught, to enable them to navigate the Red Canal.
